Keeping The House Warm

You might keep your house warmer by covering it with fur. But you must use fuel inside.

The human body is a house which must be heated by fuel supplied in food.

The fuel value of food is measured in calories.

Fuel values in a pound of some daily foods are:

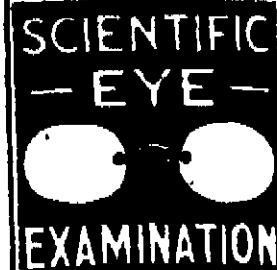

Roast Turkey	870 calories
Tenderloin	1330 calories
Smoked Ham	1940 calories
Baked Beans	600 calories
Eggs	720 calories
Potatoes	440 calories
Mackerel	715 calories
Apple Pie	1270 calories
Peanut Oil	4070 calories

When peanut oil is refined into SALANUT, you get more fuel for the body than from the other foods. To get the full benefit, use SALANUT each day in cooking. The other foods will be richer and improved in flavor.

IN EVENING GOWNS

Frocks Designed From Fashions Worn Long Ago.

Generous Puffs, Hoops and Trailing Ribbons Characteristic of the Revolutionary Period.

This winter many girls will enjoy an experience which probably they never thought would be theirs, namely, that of finding themselves robed in evening frocks fashioned from styles worn in the picturesque days of long ago. For what miss who has studied the delightful fashion plates of the splendid and beauty-loving court of the French Louis, and those of the gracious days of the colonial period, has not privately wished that she might bedeck herself in some of these quaintly charming costumes of past epochs? If she is a practical person, she realizes that such gowns would seem ridiculous in the daily life of the twentieth century, because of their generous puffs, hoops and trailing ribbons; but, happily, there is the evening occasion which makes such elaborate modes a possibility.

This season's evening frocks, then, will be replete with crinolines, panniers, hoops and all the exquisite touches which characterized the revolutionary period; and, therefore, the waistlines on these gowns will be slender and tapering, ending in a billow of bouffant skirts. A wide variety of materials will be used in their manufacture, selected from radium taffeta, net, lace, satin, and the rich brocades which are so closely connected with this period. Dresden taffetas and bunches of narrow velvet will be used skillfully, as finishing touches to these frocks.

For the woman who prefers a more conservative style, the season offers a choice of clinging, silhouette models, beautifully draped in long, straight lines which end in graceful trains. These gowns are trimmed with sparkling, when rich ornamentation is desired or with simpler accessories such as ostrich feathering, tulle and brilliant touches of brocade velvet or figured satins, as girdles, or showing between two loose folds of the skirt.

For the girl who loves fluffy evening frocks there will be a dainty assortment of billowy gowns, made of net and draped over radium satin. Ruffles are used as edging for the overskirts and are made into simple bodices and are made really lovely when selected in delicate shades of Nile green, orchid, peach, apricot, or Alice blue.

Draped skirts are also being supplemented by the loose, trouser-effect which is now becoming popular, and overskirts of fringe are appearing from France. Some of the waists are of the surplice blouse model, having either short sleeves or an absence of shoulder drapery.

WEAR OR NOT WEAR CORSET?

French Fashions Are Being Watched With Eagerness as to Final Outcome in Spring.

Not only have the fashion shows staged in this country suggested the possibility that there may arise a demand for a corset which holds the figure firmly in place, with a slight emphasis on a marked waistline, but the French openings, with recurrent stress on the "specially fitted bodice," also suggest a departure from the easy, so-called "corsetless figure," which has held sway for so long a time.

It will be interesting to follow the moves with an eye to the ultimate effect on current fashion, possibly in the spring. Whether it will be the matter of a corset which holds the figure firmly in place, with a slight emphasis on a marked waistline, but the French openings, with recurrent stress on the "specially fitted bodice," also suggest a departure from the easy, so-called "corsetless figure," which has held sway for so long a time.

KINGSTON, N. Y. JAN. 8, 1920

From all accounts, even whiskey went berserk during the happy yuletide. Every one who drank the boot-leg variety saw visions, heard voices in the air, and went crazy generally.

All attempts by administration senators to obtain a compromise from President Wilson so that the United States can get on a legal peace foundation are proving fruitless. Mr. Wilson's illness doesn't seem to have softened that stubborn will one iota. When a little man is licked he never admits it. When a big man is licked he takes his medicine and proceeds to congratulate the victor. What's the answer?

SUMMONED TO THE BAR.

Even up to the last Presidential election the vote of the Prohibition party was so small that it was not taken seriously, which shows that you never can tell what time's whirling may bring to pass within the briefest succession of seasons. For now we not only have constitutional prohibition for the entire country but the head of the prohibition forces occupies the position of an American Warwick, or President-maker, summoning all candidates to appear and declare their faith in no uncertain terms. The consequent squinting among Presidential aspirants is visible even to the naked eye, for there is no question they could so much like to sidestep. They want the endorsement of the "dry powers" and yet they desire the good will of the numerous "wets."

In his reply Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler makes confession as follows: "I have long believed the saloon to be a public nuisance that should be abated. I have not supported prohibition for the reason that I did not believe it either a just or a proper way to deal with the problem." He then goes on to give assurance that, though the eighteenth amendment may be debated in Congress or argued in the courts, it is "a closed issue" so far as the Executive department is concerned. This will neither arouse enthusiasm among the "wets" nor even begin to satisfy the "drys," and Dr. Butler's chances of the nomination may be regarded as nil.

THE LESS OF TWO EVILS.

Notwithstanding they have rejected him three times, it is quite probable that the people of the country have more confidence in W. J. Bryan today than they have in any other Democrat. That is not necessarily saying very much. Public confidence in Democratic administration is just now at a very low ebb.

The fact that Wilson was twice elected and Bryan three times defeated does not mean that the country has the greater confidence in Wilson. In 1912 Wilson was nominated through the power of Bryan, and he was elected because he promised to reduce the cost of living without injuring any legitimate industry. He did not reduce the cost of living and he did injure many a legitimate industry, as the idle mills and smokeless chimneys attested following the enactment of the Wilson Underwood tariff law in 1913. If Wilson had stood upon that record in 1916, he would have been overwhelmingly defeated. Not a single promise of the 1912 platform was kept. Many of them were flagrantly violated. No man can be re-elected upon a record of broken promises. Mr. Wilson was shrewd enough to know that. The campaign of 1916 was fought solely upon the issue of "kept as out of war," another deception in which the implied promise was violated as soon as the victor had taken his second oath of office.

The American people have always given Mr. Bryan credit for a certain degree of at least temporary sincerity, but have never forgiven his desertion. Confronted by Mr. Wilson's almost complete record of broken promises, the people of this country will never again believe him to be sincere. He still has power because of his control of federal patronage, but in the Democratic convention of 1920, his influence will be small beside that of W. J. Bryan. If the convention were held many months in advance, quite likely the administration machine could manipulate the convention, but by the time the delegates meet, the end of the Wilson regime will be so near that many will distrust the elders from the throne.

The only possible chance of continued Wilsonian survival in politics is the creation of some new false issue upon which the people may be easily misled, but it is incredible that any considerable number of people will now place any reliance whatsoever upon any promise, expressed or implied, Mr. Wilson may make.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

Madge—"It's up to date."
Helen—"Yes, indeed; she has already planned how much money to get out of her husband in 1920."

"Why don't you take a vacation this year, Blunkins? The boss can get along all right without you."
"I know it, but I don't want him to get wise to it."

"Don't you think she has beautiful teeth?" asked Mrs. Smith, as the curtain descended on the act by the Dining Venus at the vaudeville show.
"Darnd if I know," replied Mr. Smith.
"I didn't notice her teeth."
—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Phyllis is in a quandary."
"What is the matter with the dear girl?"

"How was she to know that all twelve of the young men she promised to marry would survive the war?"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"What kind of a motorist is Chugs-forth?"
"I wouldn't call him a motorist. He's a motor-maniac."

"Yes."
"All he sees of a scenic route is the roadbed, and he travels so fast he doesn't see much of that."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"What is preparedness?"
"Knitting sweaters for soldiers of the next war."—Detroit News.

"My husband is so jealous."
"How absurd!"
"Of course not."
"How humiliating!"—The Saturday Journal, London.

Oh! What a Blow!

"Say, Bo, wanna buy a bottle of 'tea'?" (Wink). "It's the real goods, all right, all right." (Two winks).
The stranger: "I'm wise. What's it worth?"

"Only $8 for a quart."
The money passed, and the bottle of "tea," carefully wrapped, was handed to the purchaser.

Later, surrounded by eager friends the "tea" was sampled.
Tableau! It was tea, sure enough.

Her Mother's Daughter.

A certain small girl, whose mother has gone in for all the new fashions—sleath skirt, slit skirt, short skirt, and what not, was rather naughty in school one day.

So the teacher said to her reproachfully:
"But, Molly, don't you want to grow up so that everybody will look up to you?"

"No, Miss Gray," said the youngster, decidedly. "I want to grow up so that everybody will look round at me."

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, Jan. 8.—The ferryboat Riverside has a clear channel across the Rondout creek and it is hoped by many Port Ewen citizens that the ferry will be able to run all season. The only thing that is mighty inconvenient and awfully hard to bear is when they have to wait on the Slighsburg side of the creek and almost freeze to death as there is no place to wait where it is warm, and if an automobile did not come along there is no telling when the ferry would come across.

Mrs. Sarah Schoonmaker, who has been ill at her home in Slighsburg, is improving.

A meeting of the Ever Ready Club was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jump on Broadway.

Rev. P. C. Woyant, pastor of the Wurts Street Methodist Church, preached at the week of prayer service in the Methodist Church Wednesday evening.

The usual good attendance is being kept up at the week of prayer meetings held in the Reformed Church.

Rever Sligh is ill at his home on Schryver street.

A great many changes will take place in this village this spring, people moving in and moving out of the village. Already people are inquiring about houses to be here.

Miss Ella Layman, who has been confined to her home on Green street for a few weeks, is improving.

Mrs. William Stephenson of Green street has gone to La Fayetteville, where she will spend some time with her daughter, Mrs. Ormand Wills.

George W. Grinstead, D. D., superintendent of Kingston, will preach at the Methodist Church this evening. Everyone is invited to these meetings. Awakening Song Book will be used. Those who have them please bring them.

The meetings of the week of prayer at the Reformed Church are being well attended and are proving very helpful to all. The topic for tonight is "The Paschal Opportunity." Luke 13:32. The Rev. C. H. Patterson will be present tonight and assist in the singing. If it is hoped that every one who possibly can get out will come tonight. All are welcome.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, Jan. 4.—There is to be a big children's supper in the lecture room of the Methodist Church Friday evening. Tickets 10c. All children under 12. This is to be the annual dinner. Let all come and enjoy it.

The Franklin Car at the New York Automobile Show

People whom we have talked with at the automobile show have been interested because there are a great many tangible facts we were able to show them which established Franklin merit on a different basis than merely our "say-so."

We don't think it is altogether fair that a prospective car buyer should be asked to base his judgment on hearsay. We are strong believers in actual evidence both as to records and demonstrations.

There is real proof that the Franklin is the economical car, the most comfortable car, the car that will make most miles per day, one that is freest of routine care and attention, easiest and safest to handle—in other words, the one that meets most of the requirements that the well-informed motorist might have.

The attention the Franklin is getting at this year's show is quite a tribute to the manner in which it is rendering motoring service.

Experienced people do not allow themselves to get enthusiastic over anything but a good automobile.

SEEK SLAYERS OF AMERICANS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Mexico City, Mex., Jan. 8.—An official investigation of the deaths of E. J. Roney and Earl Bowles, Americans employed by an oil company in the Tampico district, has been ordered by the government, the foreign office announced today.

The men are reported to have been murdered by Mexicans and General Francisco Murguía, commanding the Carranza forces in the oil fields, has been ordered to arrest the murderers and punish them severely.

No note regarding the death of the Americans had been received from Washington up to a late hour Wednesday night.

New York, Jan. 8.—The bodies of Bowles and Roney are on board a tank steamer on their way to Port Arthur, Texas, according to information received by the International Petroleum Company.

PROVISIONS OF INCOME TAX LAW

Following is an outline of important provisions of the New York state income tax law, the district office for the collection of which is located in the Kingston city hall:

Who is Taxed.

Residents of the state are taxed upon their entire net income. Non-residents are taxed upon their income derived from sources within the state.

Every individual who is single or who is married and not living with husband or wife, who has an income of $1,000 or over for a taxable year, must send to the state comptroller a sworn statement of his income, together with the deductions allowed by law. A similar statement must be filed by a person married and living with husband or wife whose income is $2,000 for the taxable year.

The first year that the tax is to be collected is year, 1919. The tax must be paid to the state comptroller between January 1 and March 15, 1920. Copies of the law, together with proper blanks for filing returns, may be secured upon application to the state comptroller at Albany.

Heavy penalties are provided to avoid evasion of the law. A person who intentionally fails to make a return is subject to a fine of $1,000 or one year imprisonment, or both, and in addition is liable to taxation at double the ordinary rate. Similar penalties are provided to guard against a fraudulent return.

Rates of Tax.

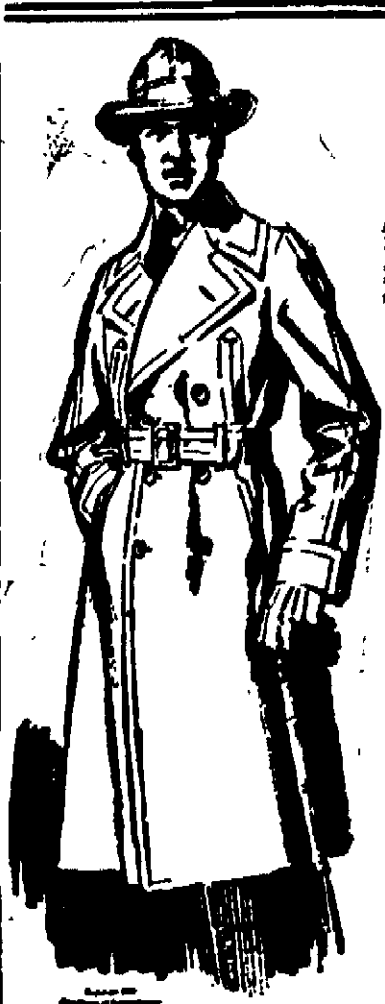

The rates of tax are one per cent on the first $10,000 of taxable income; two per cent on the next $40,000 of taxable income; and three per cent upon any amount above $50,000.

To arrive at the amount of tax to be paid, first the taxpayer determines his gross income. From this amount, he is permitted under the law to make certain deductions, which gives the amount of his net income. Resident taxpayers may deduct the personal exemption of $1,000 if single or if married and living apart from husband or wife; or $2,000 if married. Then the taxpayer has before him the amount of his income upon which tax is to be paid, or the taxable income.

How to Determine Gross Income.

In figuring gross income, the taxpayer does not include any amounts which he received as a beneficiary under a life insurance policy; the value of any gifts; any interest income from Liberty bonds or other obligations of the government, New York state or any of its cities, towns or villages; any payments received from accident, health or workmen's compensation acts. Payments from the government, which includes railroad employees, are also excluded.

After these items are left out and the taxpayer has a figure showing his gross income, he is allowed to reduce it, following commercial practice, by expenses and other items to secure his net income. When he does this he leaves out his business expenses. These are easily found in the case of merchants and shopkeepers. The professional men can with

DELIGHTFUL DANCE AT FULLER PLANT

Eight Hundred Employees and Guests Made Merry in New Department of Pine Grove Avenue Sheet Factory.

Just think what eight hundred happy, wholesome, attractive young people mean to any community! Wednesday evening there were more than eight hundred guests at the delightful dance given by the Fuller Sheet Company, Inc., to their two hundred employees and their friends in their new department at their factory on Pine Grove avenue. And it did not matter whether those present were six, sixteen or sixty, the affair was so delightful that they were one and all young and happy, and that is saying a great deal.

The basement of the big factory, some two hundred feet long, has just been converted into a laundry, packing, and shipping department, with a fine hard wood floor which offered irresistible possibilities for a dance such as was given last evening. So, before utilizing it in its business capacity, the members of the company who have continually the good of their employees at heart decided upon this social event. Knowing that this was to come, the late monthly fall and winter dances usually held in the Community House of the company were given up by the young people in order to make this event the more noteworthy, the Freeman society reporter was told by Miss Morris, the chairman of the Social Committee.

AT THE THEATRES.

Girl of Paradise With Hawaiians at Opera House.

Eugene O'Brien as "The Perfect Lover," showing at Keene's tonight, filled the aching void in the hearts of neglected wives of rich men until he tired of their fawning manner. What happened to him then is shown on the screen. Prima, the screen's greatest achievement, Gaumont Graphic and Screen Smiles are added features tonight. Friday and Saturday, "The Dark Star," featuring Marion Davis, will be the attraction. Everybody's favorite, Sherry Hamilton, will appear in his latest screen offering entitled "The Ranger" at the Auditorium tonight. A Merit Comedy, Ford Educational and Current News Weekly are other features. Mary Boland in "Woman's Experience," will be the attraction tomorrow.

"The Girl of Paradise," which will be shown at the Opera House tonight, Friday and Saturday, goes a bit further than anything heretofore in the presentation of the motion pictures as the story is one of Hawaii. The management has a company of native Hawaiians appearing in person to give the production the right atmosphere and throughout the running of the picture the soft lazy twang of the ukuleles will synchronize with the groupings and movements of the people on the screen, thus making an impressive combination production.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, Jan. 7.—The basketball game on New Year's night was one of the most interesting of the season. The local high played the alumni high school team at Norbury Hall. The alumni team, composed of Leslie Shurter, Tuthill McDowell, Charles and George Freer and George Barley defeated the local high—in first half of game very close score but latter half by a score much larger. Any way the game was enjoyed and dancing followed, also enjoyed by the large crowd of young people present.

There was a large attendance of members and guests at the installation of the officers of the O. E. S. at Masonic rooms Monday evening. It was one of the most impressive and delightful affairs the order has ever held. Dr. Hobson, assisted by Mrs. Nellie V. Heavy carbon deposits in the combustion chamber and on piston heads cause lots of engine trouble ranging from pre-ignition of the fuel charge to the destruction of the lubricating oil. This can be avoided. With uniform, high grade gasoline that possesses even vaporizing and ignition qualities, carburetion can be so perfectly regulated that the fuel charge is burned up completely, leaving a minimum of carbon deposit.

SOCONY Motor Gasoline meets every motor fuel requirement. It is carefully refined to a definite standard of high quality. It is as uniform as modern science can make it. HONESTY is the Best Policy, and we believe in having and giving the best. That is why we have made Honesty the fundamental principle in the conduct of our business.

HONESTY in our business first suggests correct measure and exactness in money matters, but we go still farther and apply the word to all our relations with the public—Honesty in advertising, honesty in recommending our goods and honesty in charging fair and reasonable prices.

WE PRACTICE this policy not only because we know that it pays to be honest, but because we believe that the public is entitled to honest treatment.

YOU WILL always find us straightforward and fair in all our dealings with you.

France Was Originator of Terminology Identifying Parts of a British Army

The war has added many French words to current English and American use, and the number of them continues a process that goes back to the Norman French. The word "war" itself, wrote Dr. Henry Bradley, in his "Making of English," is of Norman-French origin, and so also did a long list of martial terms originate with the French, come over into England, and became anglicized, among them "battle," "assault," "siege," "standard," "banner," "armor," "lance," "fortress," and "tower." From France came originally the terminology that identifies the separate parts of a British army, the "company," "battalion," "regiment," "brigade," "division," and "corps," as well as the officers, "general," "colonel," "major," "captain," and "lieutenant." France developed the art, or, as we might now say, the machinery of war earlier than the English, but it is rather surprising to realize how many centuries the terminology has been in use. The words passed naturally enough into English for during some of those centuries, as Doctor Bradley also suggests, the relation between the two nations was so close that English writers "felt themselves at liberty" to introduce a French word whenever they pleased.

Charmed Names Featured in Milton's Poems Which Appeal to Many Readers

Scarcely any passages in the poems of Milton are more generally known, or more frequently repeated, than those which are little more than master-rolls of names. They are not always more appropriate or more melodious than other names. But they are charmed names. Every one of them is the first link in a long chain of associated ideas. Like the dwelling place of our infancy revisited in manhood, like the song of our country heard in a strange land, they produce upon us an effect wholly independent of their intrinsic value. One transports us back to a remote period of history. Another places us among the novel scenes and manners of a distant region. A third evokes all the dear classical recollections of childhood, the schoolroom, the dog-eared Virgil, the holiday, and the prize. A fourth brings before us the splendid phantoms of chivalrous romance, the trophied lists, the embroidered housings, the quaint devices, the haunted forests, the enchanted gardens, the achievements of enameled knights, and the smiles of rescued princesses.—Macaulay.

Scientist Discovers Ears of Only 6 Per Cent Equal

A scientist has just made an interesting statement about our ears. We are most of us aware that our eyes usually vary in strength, but it will be news to many to learn that our ears are unequal in their power of hearing. After careful investigation it was found that only 6 per cent of the folks whose ears were tested could hear as well with one ear as with another. In all our studies, the result of sleeping on one's side? After all, we spend a third of our life in bed.

Want Seven-Cent Coin to Meet Present Conditions.

The United States treasury department is besieged with requests coming from all sections that a coin be minted of 7 cent denomination. Many banks and trust companies are among the petitioners, as well as railroad, moving picture theaters and street car companies. The claim is made that a 7-cent coin would prove a great relief to the ultimate consumer, who is constantly annoyed by the mass of pennies collected in a day's shopping as a result of the changed prices. The old nickel cigar now sells for 7 cents; the "nickel picture show" has passed out of existence and in its place is the 17 or 22-cent show; many street car companies have been forced to raise fares to 7 cents; milk and bread have doubled in price and usually call for odd pennies and there are a host of other articles priced right to use a 7-cent coin. It is understood that the treasury department rather leans toward the idea.

"No. The maid objected to our having them."

The statue, which is nine feet high and stands in the Back Bay Fane, was erected at a cost of $20,000 after ten years' effort on the part of the association.

POUGHKEEPSIE REGATTA

Revised Assured By Faculty Approval.

The faculty, athletic authorities of Columbia, Cornell and Pennsylvania had approved the revival of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association's annual regatta at Poughkeepsie was learned Wednesday from Charles Hubert Mapes of Columbia, chairman of the board of stewards. Mr. Mapes declared that the date for the regatta and the details thereof would be decided on before the end of this month.

Mr. Mapes said that the outlook in intercollegiate rowing was the best in years, particularly among the institutions which composed the Intercollegiate Association. These are the three named above. Syracuse will be invited to compete again and defend the title it won in the regatta rowed before the United States entered the war. The winner of the Pacific coast regatta, which will bring together Washington, California and possibly Stanford, on May 1 at Oakland, also will be invited to come east. If Washington should be the winner it is almost certain that it will row once more on the Hudson.

ENDS SERVICE AT ULSTER PARK

Rev. van Oostenbrugge, Compelled by Eye Trouble to Stop Preaching After Almost Forty Years of Continuous Ministry—May Supply Vacant Pulpits Following Operation.

REV. C. VAN OOSTENBRUGGE.

The Rev. C. van Oostenbrugge preached for the last time at Ulster Park Sunday morning, January 4. He came to this charge the first of November, 1914. The reason of his leaving is that he is not able to see to read on account of double cataract on his eyes. He will undergo an operation at the Albany City Hospital about the 20th of the present month, with the most encouraging prospects of success, the doctor assures him. It will require considerable time, however, before he will be able to resume his work as a preacher. Nor is it likely that he will even then accept the pastorate of a church, but confine himself to supplying vacant pulpits. However, this is a matter which is contingent upon future conditions.

Mr. van Oostenbrugge entered the ministry in May, 1880, and therefore would have completed forty years of ministerial service had the condition of his eyes permitted him to continue until the first of next June. In all these forty years he has not been out of the pulpit one Sunday on account of sickness, though he was "laid up" a couple of times on account of accident. There are not many men of his age who are as spry and "chipper" as he. He has the reputation of being the best and fastest walker in the township of Esopus, not excluding many who are much younger than he.

Rev. van Oostenbrugge was born in the Netherlands on August 2, 1853, and came to America with his father and family in 1856. They settled in South Holland, a few miles south of Chicago, Ill. He was educated in the public schools of his home town, took his college course at Hope College, Holland, Mich., graduating in '76, and graduated from the New Brunswick Theological Seminary in May, 1880. He was ordained by the Presbytery of Winnebago, Wis., in September and served in the Presbyterian Church in Wisconsin four years. In Missouri three years, in Nebraska four years. In 1892 he came from Nebraska to Ulster county, taking the pastorate of Napanoch and Keokauk, serving the churches there eight years. From 1890 to 1895 he was pastor of the Schodack Church in Rensselaer county; from 1895 to 1910 the pastor of the Little Kill Church in Albany county. In 1910 he helped to organize a new church at Woodlawn, a suburb of Schenectady, and was called to its pastorate. This he accepted on condition that he would remain with them only for two years, since he did not wish to be pastor of a church which would, by reason of the growth of the city, soon encroach upon the territory of the church from which he had just come, fearing that it might create ill feeling. After serving the Woodlawn Church, Mr. van Oostenbrugge spent one year in Flushing, L. I., and was called to the Ulster Park Church in the fall of 1914.

Patriarchal Yew.

An enormous yew is attested by the trees—notably yews. At Farnham's abbey, Yorkshire, the yew tree is old in 1132. California has a yew tree in Mariposa county which trees of Africa have been estimated to be more than 5,000 years old, and a deciduous cypress at Chappaqua is still older.

MATCHING COFFEY AND CHRYSTAL

For Light-weight Championship of Hudson River Valley at Next Smoker of Kingston Athletic Club.

Sporting fans along the Hudson river are divided on the question of whether Vincent Coffey of this city or Willie Chrystal of Newburgh can lay claim to the lightweight championship of the Hudson river valley. To decide the question the officials of the Kingston Athletic Club are now arranging a ten round bout between the two fighters to be the main event at the next smoker of the club to be held here the week of January 13.

The men have met three times, but fans who saw the fights are of various opinions as to which is the better man.

The club is also trying to arrange a six round semi-final between Sapper Cohen and Bert Spencer. The latter is the man who fought Chrystal at Poughkeepsie Christmas Day, and was given the decision by the Poughkeepsie newspapers.

There will also be a four round preliminary.

COOLIDGE GIVES UNREST REMEDIES

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Boston, Jan. 8.—Governor Calvin Coolidge, mentioned as a candidate for the Republican nomination for president, told how to stem the tide of economic discontent and radicals sweeping the country in his inaugural message to the legislature today.

His remedies are:
1.—Abandon the mad scramble for money and get back to the Plymouth Rock standards of believing that "to do something for some one else" is better than to accumulate wealth.

2.—Make the government a human being, with a heart for the weak and oppressed.

3.—Save and produce and thus solve the shortage of all kinds of materials.

4.—Reduce government expenses from a war to a peace basis for so long as the cost of government is high, the cost of living will be high.

5.—Pay off war obligations and do not impose new burdens "for there is danger that our resources may be taxed out of existence."

6.—Prosecute the criminal agitator and educate the ignorant who accept the false doctrines.

Griffin-Aldorf

The marriage of Miss Helen Aldorf, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Aldorf, of Modena, and Gerow B. Miss Laura Aldorf, sister of the bride, attended her and George Aldorf, brother of the bride was best man. Finan-Luby

At nine o'clock, Wednesday morning a very pretty wedding occurred at the church of the Presentation, Port Jervis, when John Finan and Miss Margaret Luby were united in marriage with a nuptial Mass by Rev. M. A. Garlin, pastor of that church. The bride was handsomely gowned in a blue traveling suit and carried white roses. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Sara Carman of Eddyville who was also gowned in blue and carried pink roses. James Finan of Elizabeth, N. J., a brother of the groom, was best man. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The happy couple left in the afternoon for Washington, D. C., and other points of interest, where they will spend their honeymoon. They were both popular and they carry with them the best wishes of a host of friends for a long and happy married life.

SEEKS OPPONENT FOR VINCE COFFEY

The Hustler A. C. which holds forth its entertainments at the Columbus Institute, Poughkeepsie, will be the scene of a corking good show Thursday when Wild Cat Bittling, Nelson of Brooklyn will clash with Red Allen of Providence, R. I., in the dollar attraction of ten rounds.

These two fought one of the best 15 round fights ever witnessed at the National A. C. Providence, R. I., about two months ago. Lew Meyer, who is matchmaker of the Hustler A. C. was a ring side spectator at the Rhode Island contest and lost no time in signing up these two, to appear in a return match at the Hustler A. C. in Poughkeepsie.

The special six round number will bring together Joe Collette of Poughkeepsie and Mickey Young Nelson of Paterson, N. J., followed by Harry Johnson and Frankie Maxwell, who will also combat for six rounds. Another six round contest will bring together Tony Polusie of Poughkeepsie and Young Russell of Newark, N. J.

The opening event of four rounds will bring together Turkey Kelly of Wappinger Falls and Battling Joe of Poughkeepsie.
Lew Meyer, who is directing the matching of the Hustler A. C. bouts, is seeking some worthy opponent to meet Vince Coffey, of this city, to appear in one of the three all star ten round bouts, that he is arranging for January 22nd.
